

The Port Arthur News

VOL. XLII, NO. 202

PORT ARTHUR, TEXAS, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1935.

SHORT STORIES

With With, Fables and Observations By "S. S."

Port.

Cottone died today.

Season's first frost last night.

Thanksgiving Day 21 days hence.

Legionnaires elect officers tonight.

Lane Star truck's top signed this morning.

Cooler, then Ernie Carson changed his mind.

Two bicycles unclaimed at police headquarters.

Fifth street crossing at Shreveport has been levelled off.

DAILY SHIP SCORE: In Port Arthur, 9; at Beaumont, 3.

U. S. S. Tacoma coming 10th and 17th, with big guns everything.

Deck hunters paying toll again this year to hunt in the marshes.

N. E. L. club meets Thursday night after lengthy suspension of sessions.

Cap Edley says an expert is an ordinary guy a long ways from home.

File of kids across from The News gradually taking up all the street.

Pappy sale Friday afternoon to be conducted by American Legion auxiliary.

Dinner dance at Plaza tonight for Veterans of Foreign Wars and their ladies.

Notable punners washed down the pavement in front of Central station this a. m.

Hollow tile assembled for new apartment house on Procter, in the 1200 block.

John Made back from several months visit with relatives in Manatee, Michigan.

Texas Company rumbling up downtown Port Arthur today when the wind was "right."

Dad's pocket book staging valiant comeback after vanishing now faces the Christmas rap.

Church goes out their own stores to the Baptist next meeting in Gilham Circle last night.

Morning blood says "woman shop per lost $150." Moral: Do your shopping in Port Arthur.

Joe Stroud managed to down a cup of coffee in company with George Weidell at noon today.

Advanced sale of tickets indicated large crowd from here to attend Texas-Archie game Thanksgiving.

Methodists in majority when Mayor Pink Logan counted faithful represent at city council this morning.

Armistice Day eve hop at the Pleasure Pier Saturday night "booked up" by Port Arthur Legionnaires.

During building boom on Fifth street in 400 block, autos must park parallel to curb, city council decreed today.

Deputy Sheriff Artie Pollock said this morning reports that he has been shot and killed were greatly exaggerated.

Seems found a lot of poker chips mixed up with the cash when it came time to "check" in a city hall office this a. m.

Paul Clancy wires Ray Hudson from Chicago to save him running space in the Sunday auto classic at East Texas Speedway.

One of the year's most popular holidays is Thanksgiving Day, because it never comes on Sunday. Banker Nickleberry opines.

The Yellow Jackets and Purple players from Beaumont will be guests of the local high school at a dance to be given Saturday evening.

Port Arthur College and the M. G. team tonight open the 1935 basketball season tonight at 8 o'clock when they mix things in Franklin school gym.

Someone misplaced Chief LaRue's garbage can, so city dumps today ordered J. W. Wade to deliver the fire department laddies another one at once.

A fascinating indoor sport is to watch the widow washer on the outside missing a spot he's left on the window, which you can see but he can't.

While Pink Logan and other city officials inspect street, road and highway improvement in border towns, Ben Wiley will wield the red pencil of the mayor's office.

Couch Leo Smith carried his high school Yellow Jacket over to Orange this morning for a practice game. The gridders rode up the Port Arthur ship channel about a tug.

Identification Paper Thorpe presented with a brass dog by one of his admirers. "It's solid, too, and makes a handy paper weight as well as a desk ornament," Thorpe avers.

Leon Steinbock, who keeps his new Cadillac in 44 surrounding suburbs, makes a break for the door every time he hears the fire alarm sound off "to make sure the garage is intact."

Harding Requested Col. Forbes to Quit Gen. Sawyer Says

Testifies the Late President Considered Sale of Hospital Supplies An Intolerable Waste

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Brigadier General Charles E. Sawyer, personal physician to President Harding, told the senate committee investigating the veterans' bureau, that President Harding asked Colonel Charles R. Forbes, former director of the bureau, to resign as a result of the sale of supplies at Fort Belvoir, Mo.

Dr. Sawyer denounced the sale and declared, Forbes had continued shipments after President Harding ordered them stopped. For this disobedience, Dr. Sawyer said, Forbes was asked to resign.

Dr. Sawyer said that when he learned of the sale of surplus supplies he had registered emphatic protest and had referred the sale to President Harding.

Officials Easy Marks

The price, being paid were far below the proper value, testified Sawyer.

The buyer drove "a sharp bargain," he said. He said the veterans bureau officials who ordered the sale were "easy marks."

Sawyer said he was astounded by the rushed sale of supplies even after it was known President Harding disapproved of the sale.

Dr. Sawyer brought with him a huge suitcase filled with samples of the materials sold. He exhibited the samples to the committee to show the good condition of the goods.

Harding's Sharp Comment

Dr. Sawyer said President Harding told him the sale was "a waste that should not be tolerated."

"The president was pretty busy at that time, too, wasn't he?" Asked Senator Reed.

"The president, sir, was always busy," said Dr. Sawyer fervently.

Dr. Sawyer said that in his well considered opinion the deal was a very unbusinesslike and senseless one.

U. S. S. TACOMA DATE IS SET

Ship to Visit Here Nov. 16, Says Latest Advices

Telegraphic communication to the Chamber of Commerce made public this morning by Secretary Art Burge announced that the U. S. S. Tacoma will arrive in Port Arthur on November 16, departing on the 17th.

It had been previously announced that the vessel would arrive here on the 15th and depart the 16th, but changes in the Tacoma itinerary made it necessary for the dates to be changed in Port Arthur.

The message received from the commandant of the Tacoma follows: "Naval department has modified schedule of U. S. S. Tacoma, and she will visit Port Arthur November 16 and 17."

Brannon Funeral Date Has Not Yet Been Set

Pending word from relatives, funeral arrangements for Mrs. Mildred A. Brannon, 20 years, who died at 8:15 a. m. Tuesday after a brief illness, were not completed today.

The deceased had been a resident of Port Arthur for about six months, making her home at 1311 New Orleans avenue.

She was a daughter of William Brannon, Arkansas, and besides relatives in Oklahoma and Arkansas, she is survived by her husband and an infant son, born Monday night, and her father, J. W. Ashford, who resides in Oklahoma. Final funeral arrangements are completed, the body is at the Grand Union undertaking establishment.

2 STAB WOMAN, SHEAR HER HAIR

Tulsa Victim Refuses to Reveal Attackers

TULSA, Okla., Nov. 6.—Mrs. Dorothy Smith, 37, was attacked by two men in her apartment last night, who cut off her hair and slashed her with a knife across her arm, limbs and back, she told authorities today.

At Morningville Hospital, Mrs. Smith refused to reveal the identity of the two men who after attacking her, threw her in her bathtub. Officers found her hair in the tub, but could find none of her clothing in her apartment.

BOOKS REGULAR, YET CASHIER SLAYS SELF

WEBB CITY, Mo., Nov. 7.—An unidentified today revealed the conclusion that R. W. Fall, cashier of the Merchants and Minors Bank of Webb City, whose body was found near an abandoned quarry, had killed himself.

Fall's auto was standing nearby. One bullet wound was found in his body the day following the arrival of two state bank examiners. Preliminary examination of the books, according to other bank officials, failed to disclose any irregularity.

WHEN I WAS 20

BY JACK FOOTER, Salesman and Tutor.

When I was 20 I was living in Houston, and was a clerk in a hotel there. In fact, come to think about it, I was clerk in several Houston hotels that year. Further than that, I remember only that I met lots of people.

PARK PARALLEL WITH THE CURB

Commission Order's Change in 400 Block Fifth Street

All cars in the 400 block on Fifth street must be parked parallel with the curb hereafter until further notice.

This was the edict of the city commission this morning when it was announced that Police Chief W. W. Corington will be notified to issue the order changing the present parking system in the 400 block on Fifth pending completion of brick structures now under way in that vicinity.

The commission's cited attention to the crowded condition on the street necessitated by the piling of brick and other material essential in the construction work on the Walter building. It was also pointed out that within the immediate future Alfred Spence will construct a building in the same block, and that while this building activity is occurring, it will be necessary to park lengthwise with the curb to permit traffic passage.

Mayor J. P. Logan said this morning that if this city does not allow sufficient room for vehicles to pass Fifth will be closed in the 400 block until buildings now under way are completed.

Jeff Burnett FOUND GUILTY

Judge Odom Sympathizes But Convicts Bastrop Man

By United Press.

BASTROP, La., Nov. 7.—With dramatic suddenness, the Klansman trial in Bastrop was thrown back today to the turbulent times when hooded bands held sway in Morehouse prison.

Judge Fred Odom found Jeff Burnett guilty of assault with a dangerous weapon upon Walter Neel, a young automobile salesman, and in doing so threw outside the defendant's testimony of his innocence, declaring "these were terrible times."

The accused was connected with events leading up to the tragedy, he said. I cannot believe he is strong enough to tell the truth and confess his guilt of this minor offense. Personally I don't believe it.

Captain J. K. Schipwich, exalted cyclops of the Ku Klux Klan, and his followers sat forward in their seats in amazement. Audible gasps ran through the spectators.

The judge continued: "But this court would be shirking its duty if it did not disregard such matters and find the defendant guilty."

DECLARE TEXAS JUNK LAW UNCONSTITUTIONAL

ASTIN, Texas, Nov. 7.—The junk law of Texas is unconstitutional because it violates the fourteenth amendment to the United States constitution, as well as certain provisions of the state constitution, the criminal court of appeals held today in reversing the judgment of the trial courts in the case of A. Stroll, Falls county.

The junk law provides that when a purchase is made by the dealer he must secure affidavit from the seller showing where, when and from whom the articles were secured.

SWOOP ON 'BANDITS,' FIND THEM SPOONERS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 7.—Police searching for bank bandits here during the night swooped down upon a car standing by the roadside. The "spooners" were not arrested.

Fair, Warmer

LOCAL FORECAST: Tonight and Thursday fair. PORT ARTHUR: Tonight and Thursday fair, frost in the interior tonight.

FOR LOUISIANA: Tonight fair, frost nearly to the coast. Thursday fair.

WINDS ON TEXAS COAST: Light variable.

Maximum temperature, 60; minimum temperature, 40; precipitation, 0.00.

For Astoria: Maximum temperature, 54; minimum temperature, 34; precipitation, 0.00.

Sunset this evening 5:25 p. m. Sunrise tomorrow 6:32 a. m.

TIME RECORD

Time of high and low water at Seaside Pier Light under normal conditions on Thursday, Nov. 7, taken from tables prepared by the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey.

High tides 5:52 a. m., 5:52 p. m. Low tides 9:23 a. m., 9:17 p. m.

WALTON DENIES ALL CHARGES

FRENCH DRAFT PARLEY AGENDA

To Be Submitted England Before U. S.

HUGHES GETS NOTE

Poincare's Reply Being Decided By Officials

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—France's reply to Secretary Hughes' request for further information on the proposed French limitations on the economic experts reparations conference will be given Hughes late today by Ambassador Jusserand.

The Paris reply came in sections this afternoon to the French embassy. It is understood to be very long and to go into great detail on questions Hughes asked.

POINCARÉ SENDS NOTE TO ENGLAND

PARIS, Nov. 7.—Premier Poincaré has sent a note to England, saying French experts are drafting a program for the proposed conference to discuss Germany's capacity to pay reparations. It was reported in well informed circles today.

The French program will be submitted to England for approval before being sent to Washington as an invitation for the United States to participate in the conference, according to the report.

Insists On Limitation

It was reported today that Premier Poincaré's fresh instructions to Ambassador Jusserand in Washington explain that the proposed conference of experts must examine the questions of the Ruhr and Germany's resources, but cannot pass judgment on French action in occupying the additional German territory.

France will also not allow discussion of the contracts recently made between herself and German interests, and will not consider discussion of Germany's capacity to pay until a time when she feels it possible to evaluate this capacity with a fair degree of accuracy.

PLAN COURSES IN SCOUTCRAFT

Scoutmasters to Be Drilled: Classes Open to All Men

Plans for a Scoutmasters' training course, open to all men of the city who are interested in boys' work, were launched at a dinner attended by Port Arthur Scoutmasters Tuesday night at 4:30 o'clock in Franklin school.

Committees to sign up men interested in the work are now out securing lists for the training course, offering completion of which entitles the men to diplomas in Scoutmasters' work. Captain Eddy said. The first session of the new training course will be held Monday, November 17 at the time to be designated later.

No tuition fee will be charged, and the Port Arthur Scout officials said they are especially interested in teachers in both day and Sunday school, and all leaders of boys to enroll in the Scoutmasters' school. Men in the school will be organized into regular troops and patrols of the Boy Scouts, and the method of "learning by doing" employed to teach them. Eddy said. By starting the classes at 7 o'clock, the men will not be kept later than 9:30 on class evenings.

KLAN OFFICIALS ARE DISMISSED

Arrested in Alleged 'Plot' No One Prosecutes

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 7.—Three officials of the Ku Klux Klan arrested today on peace warrants issued as a result of the murder of W. S. Colburn, a reader of the insurgent faction by Phil Fox, publicity representative of the Imperial Palace.

Brown Harwood, Imperial Klansman, T. J. McKinnon, chief investigator, and K. Ramsey, Imperial Klansman, were later dismissed when called for hearing in Judge Hancock's court this afternoon, for want of prosecution.

The court said Dr. Fred B. Johnson, who swore to the warrant, had been advised to remain within the jurisdiction of the court, but instead had gone to Birmingham.

CHIEF COVINGTON SAYS BEGGARS MUST GO

Orders effective immediately were issued this morning by Chief of Police Walter Corington, clearing the streets of Port Arthur beggars. Numerous complaints coming to the chief of police in the namelessness of several of the mendicants was the cause of the order, the chief said.

Bandits Get $75,000 in Gems

SUES WITH DOUG

Hey, Jack, and You, Bud! 'Break Out' the 'Blues, O.D.s., Nov. 10!

Rudolph Lambert Legionnaires Stage Get-together! 'Hop' Mid 1917 Atmosphere Saturday Night

Hey, Jack, and you, buddy, swing into that attitude if you're left go. The publication, their mutual contents, asserted Miss Brent had caused a fight in the Paramounts' main hall. This all three deny. And what's more, they alleged the magazine and Miss Brent was fired by "Doug" be cause she was "growing fat."

Thief Robs Pt. Arthur Resident At Beaumont

BEAUMONT, Texas, Nov. 7.—J. A. Long, 1184 Houston avenue, Port Arthur, reported to local police on Wednesday morning that a suit of clothes had been stolen from his auto, parked in front of U. S. Stadium Fruit company here. A negro who was standing near the car is believed to have taken the suit and a description has been furnished police. Clothes thefts are becoming more or less common, one woman stating that someone stole a sweater and other articles off her clothes line Tuesday night.

SEEK OWNER OF STOLEN WHISKY

$200,000 Worth Missing in St. Louis, Say Pros

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 7.—Police today sought an unnamed third owner of the 147 barrels of bonded Kentucky whiskey which vanished from the P. M. Head and company warehouse here last March. The liquor was worth $200,000 at bottling prices, it was estimated.

The theft has just been revealed by prohibition agents. Max Davis and Grattan Murphy, Georgetown, Ky., two of the owners, said they knew nothing of the disappearance, until they were told by the agents.

A permit for shipping the whisky here was issued in August 1932. No regulations for withdrawal were received. Theft of 1915 barrels from two other warehouses here within the last 12 months has netted bootleggers a million dollars worth of whisky, it is believed.

FIX HOLE IN STREET AT 5TH-SHREVEPORT

The hole at the intersection of Fifth street and Shreveport avenue that has been causing the police so much worry is repaired, it is announced.

C. Logan, street superintendent for Port Arthur, during commission meeting this morning.

The "hole" referred to has been the cause of the breaking of numerous automobile springs. It is understood, and has been a general hindrance to traffic. It was filled in by city workmen, Logan reported.

TRUCK CATCHES FIRE

Two calls were answered by the central station fire crews last night on this morning. The call at 7:40 o'clock last night brought the engine to 617 Seventh street, where an oil transfer truck of Lone Star company had exploded. No damage was done. This morning at 8:10 o'clock a transfer truck of Lone Star company took fire near the power house. The truck body and top were slightly damaged.

CONVICTED OF THEFT, GETS 30 DAYS, $25 FINE

Pete Hawthorne, 20k, was fined $25 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in jail this morning in corporation court when convicted on charges of petty theft. It was charged that Hawthorne stole a shirt, marked $2.50 and a sweater priced at $1.50.

TRIAL TO BE ON THURSDAY

Governor's Answer: Refutes His Charges

BLAMES KU KLUX KLAN

Denial Charges Persecution Without Cause

STATE CAPITOL, OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Nov. 7.—C. Walton, suspended governor of Oklahoma, today filed in the state senate impeachment court a blanket denial of the charges brought against him by the state house of representatives.

Trial Tomorrow

The answer was filed in the senate court when it convened at 1:30 this afternoon. Trial of the impeached governor on the 22 charges has been set to start at 1:30 tomorrow.

The answer reiterated statements denouncing the impeachment charges filed before the senate court last week. These statements blame the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan for the action against Walton, and charge he is being persecuted without cause.

Court Action Not to Delay

At the same time of conveying the answer to the senate court, Walton's counsel was to appear before the United States district court at Lawton in an effort to stop action of the impeachment court. Action upon a temporary restraining order against the senate court seeking to delay the trial was refused temporarily by the United States district court yesterday and senate leaders announced the action in the federal courts would not delay proceedings now under way here.

In his appeal to the federal court, Walton sought intervention of the United States government on the grounds of the 14th amendment to the federal constitution. This provides that no man may be deprived of his "property and personal rights without due process of law."

Walton considers his office as governor "property" and that with a "Ku Klux legislature" the senate court will not be "due process of law," according to the federal plea.

A full trial cannot be held here and even the life of the impeached governor is constantly in danger while he is on the floor of the senate court, the federal plea claimed.

A detachment of the house board of managers directing the prosecution of Walton, was dispatched to fight the plea in the federal tribunal.

Immediately following the trial of Walton in senate court, an anti-Ku Klux Klan bill will be passed by the legislature, Tom Anglin, president of the senate announced today.

27 BODIES ARE FOUND IN MINE

All Accounted For in West Virginia Disaster

GREEN ROUGH, West Va., Nov. 7.—Two more bodies were taken from the wreckage of the Hatfield-Wagon Co. coal mine here during the night bringing the total dead in this disaster to 27.

A check-up made by mine officials today while this little mining town prepared for burying its dead, showed that 62 men went down the main shaft yesterday morning before the blast. Thirty-six escaped.

Most of the men who lost their lives in the blast were married. Two were Mrs. Joe Gurak and six children, arrived here from Poland to join their husband and father who had left home several months ago to seek employment in America. Yesterday Gurak was killed.

85TH GRAND JURY CONVENES THURSDAY

BEAUMONT, Texas, Nov. 7.—Witnesses are being summoned today to the grand jury of the 85th district court, which will convene Thursday morning. The grand jury has not yet been sworn, and only one week's members deciding to take a week's vacation on account of the South Texas fair.

Merritt Obsequies to Be Held Thursday

Funeral services for John T. Merritt, 61, who died suddenly Monday afternoon, will be held Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock from the Grand Union funeral chapel. The service has been postponed to avoid a conflict with relatives. Rev. T. Alvin DeLoach, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will officiate at the services, and the burial at the English cemetery.

Merritt was a resident of Port Arthur for about 15 years, having come to this city from Jackson, Tenn., where his mother, Mrs. E. S. Merritt, and a number of other relatives reside. He was employed at the Gulf Refining company here and had been at 517 Seventh street. Besides his mother, he is survived by his widow and four brothers and four sisters.

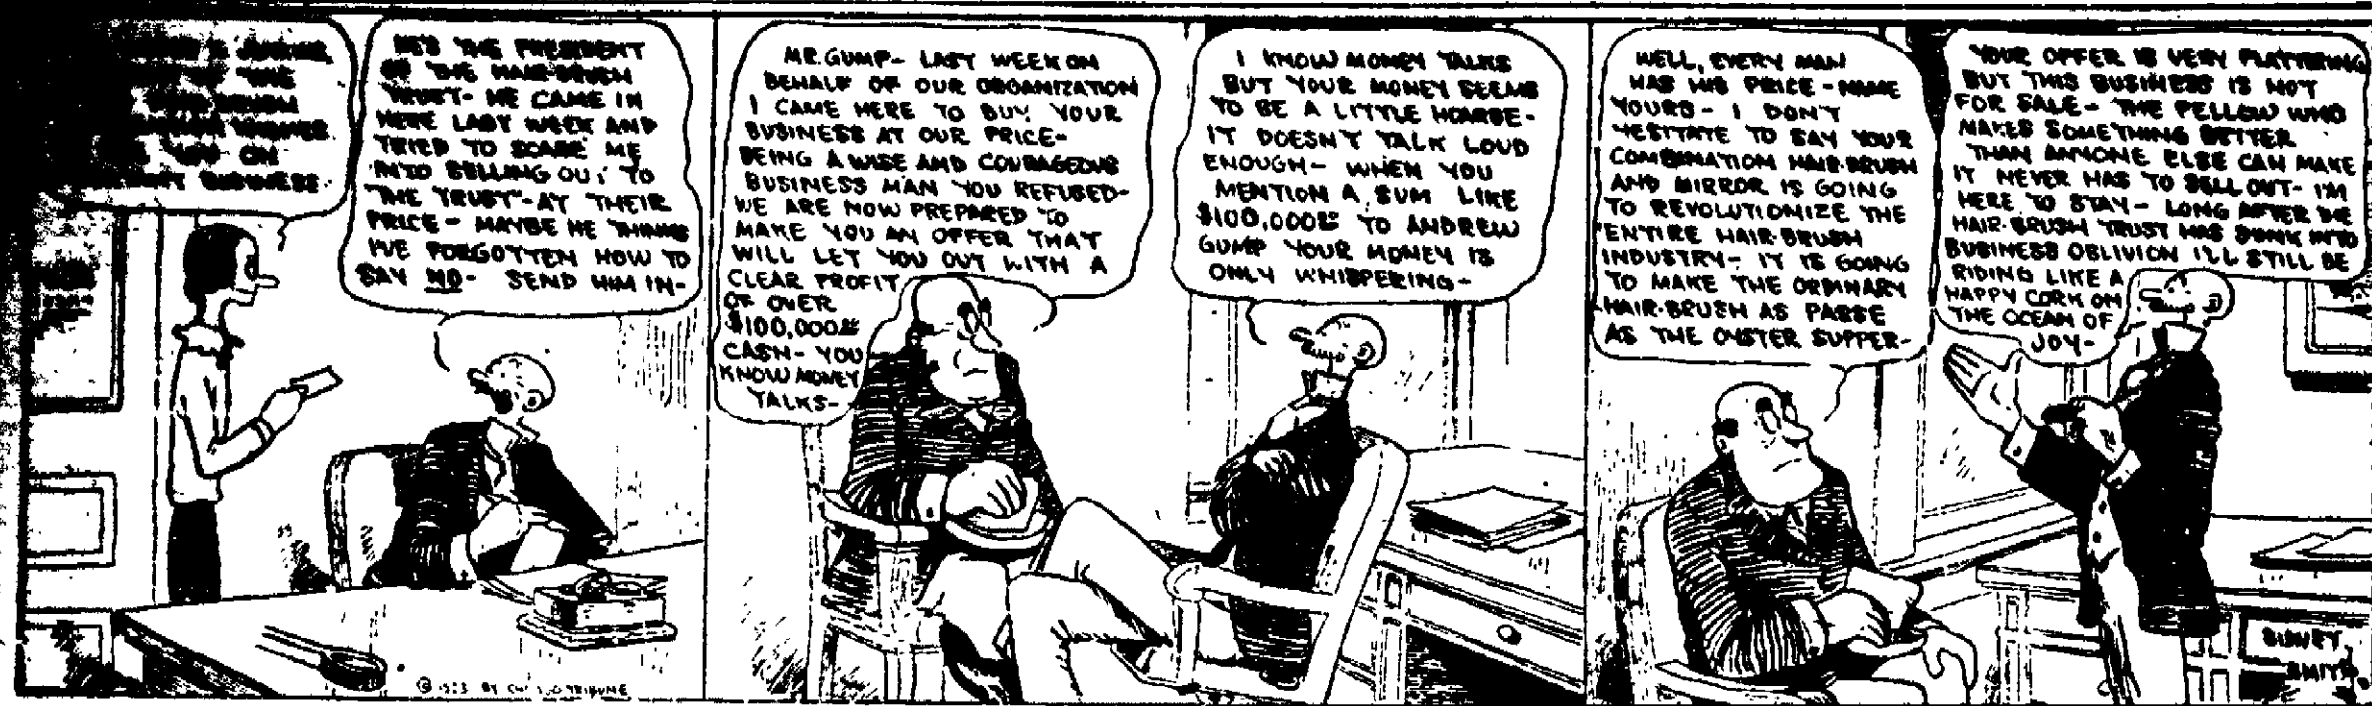

HOLD NEGRO TO AWAIT GRAND JURY'S ACTION

Charles Luster, negro, charged with attempted burglary, was held in the city jail under bonds of $500 yesterday before Judge Ellis, who came up for preliminary trial. According to officials, Luster and two negroes who attacked the negro, was attempting to burn his way through a wall separating him from the till of the Sam Wing restaurant on Seventh street, shortly before his arrest.

FROST HITS GULF STATES

Frost was the order of the day in the reports issued this morning at the local weather observatory. Frost was reported in almost every section of the Gulf states, with the exception of western Texas. A general rise in temperature was also indicated on the reports.

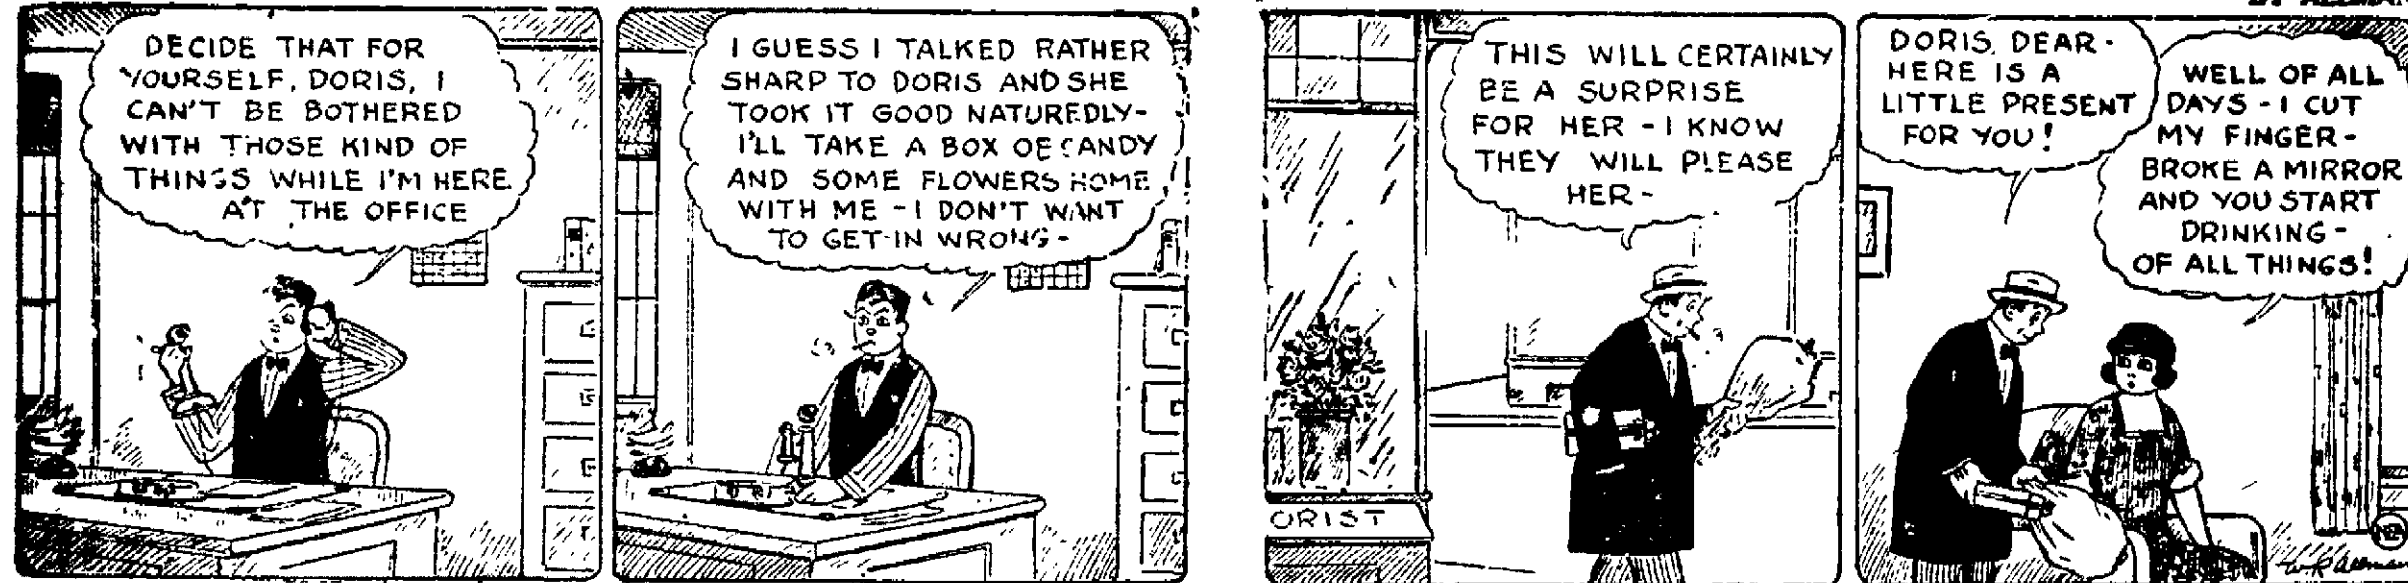

THE GUMPS—TRUST NOT THE TRUST

DORIS OF THE DUFFS

Reasons for Suspicion.

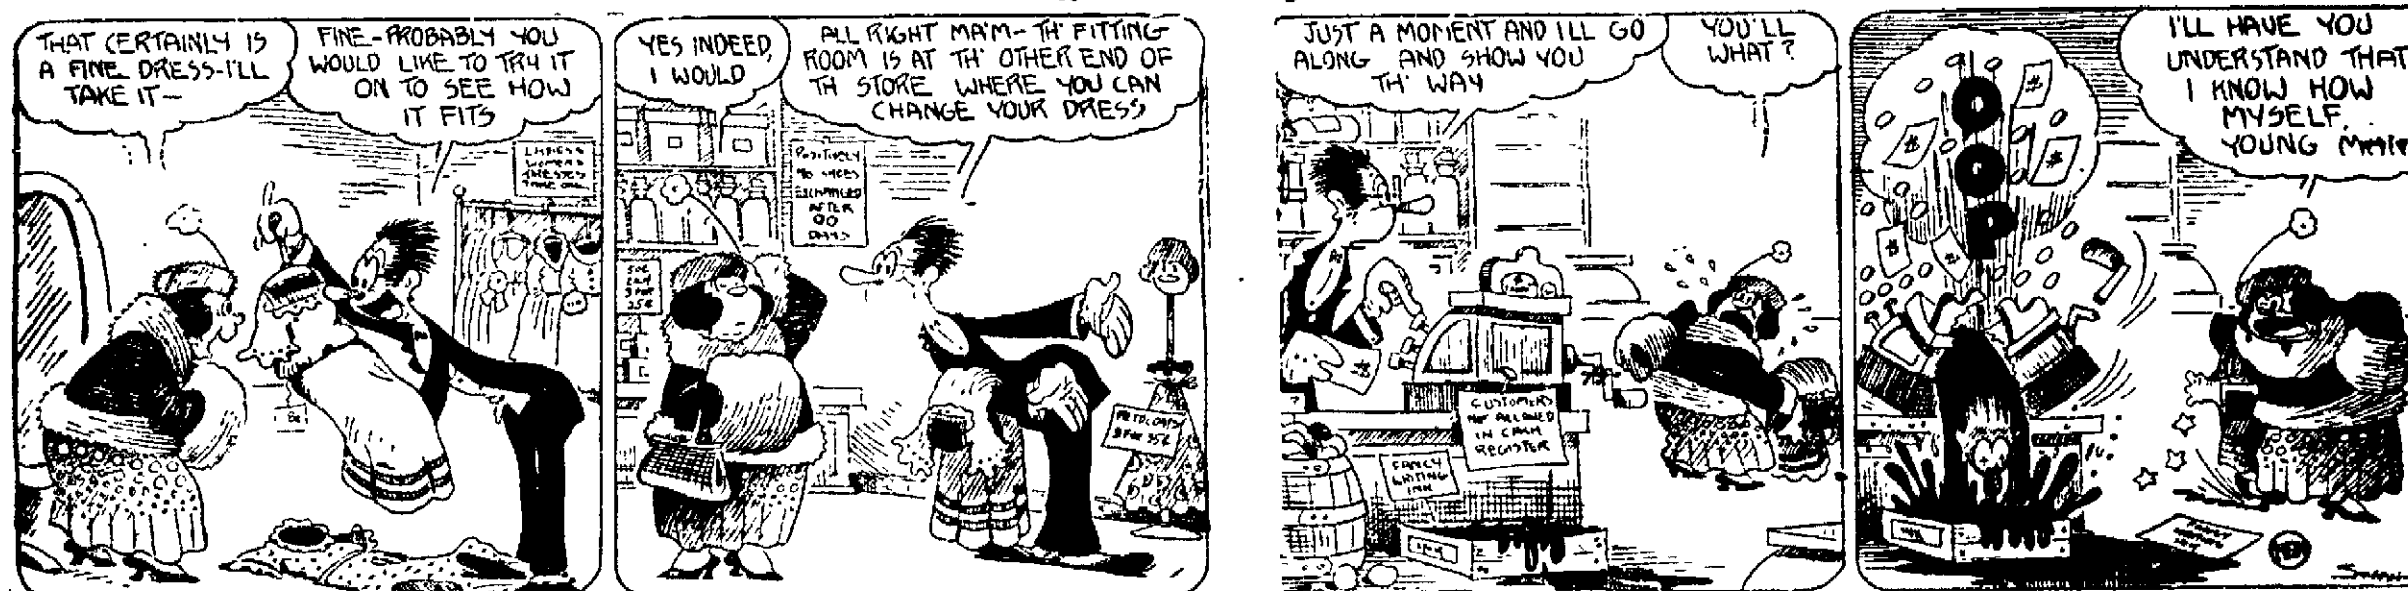

BY ALLMAN

SALESMAN SAM

A Misunderstanding.

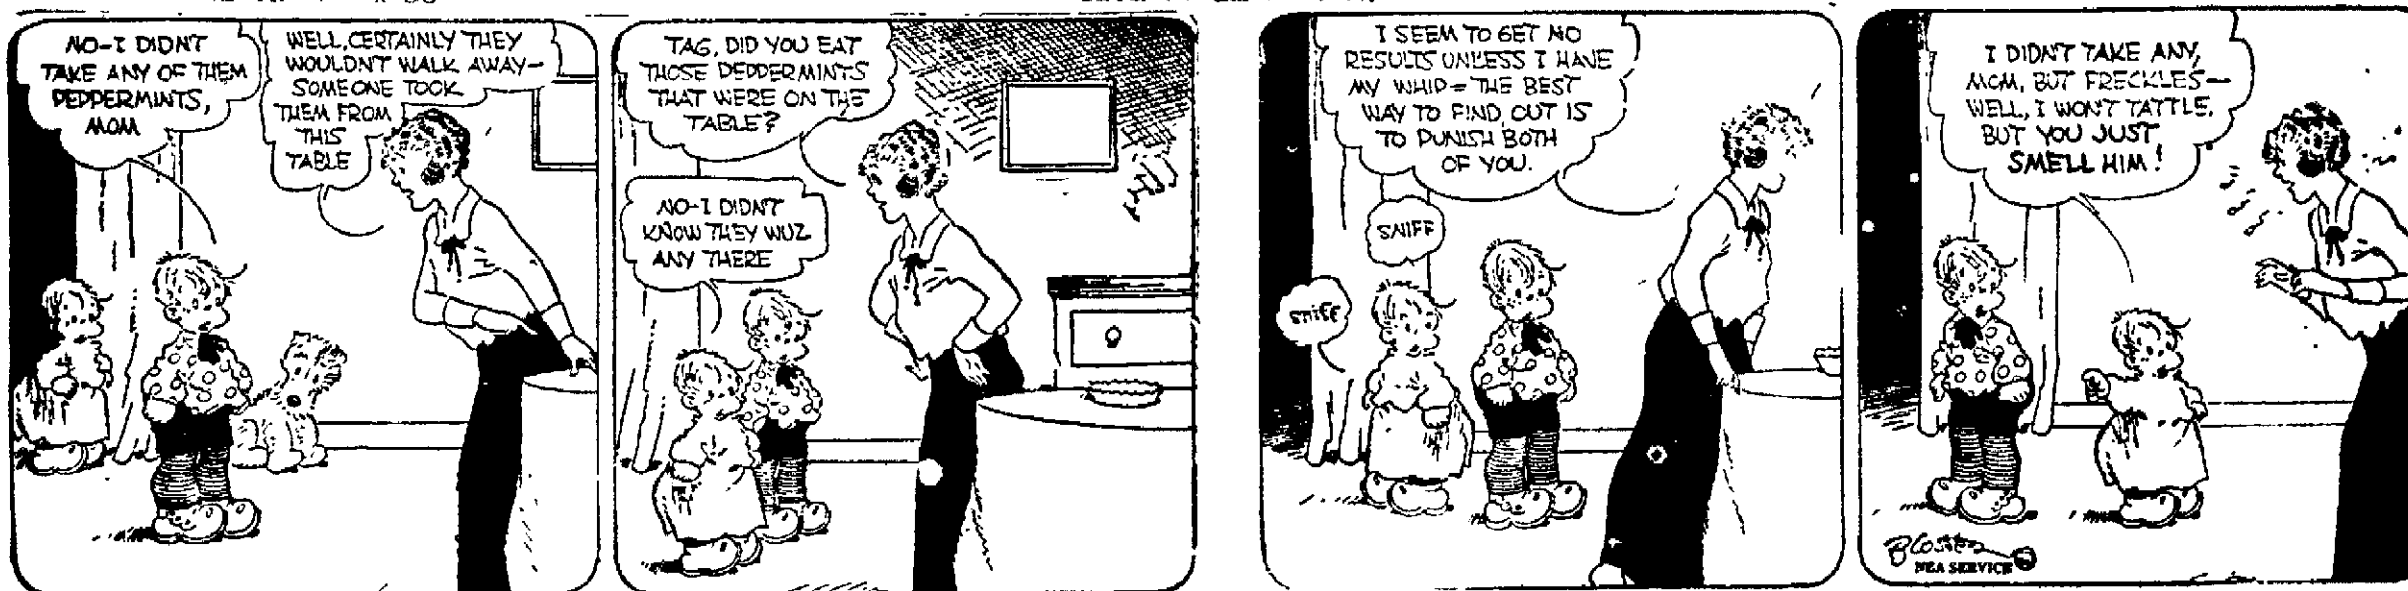

BY SWAN

AND HIS FRIENDS

Circumstantial Evidence.

BY BLOSSER

THE OLD HOME TOWN

BY STANLEY

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

BY AHERN

PANTOMIME : : : By J. H. Striabel

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS By Olive Roberts Barton

"My, but you have a nice voice!" said Nancy.

"Too wit, too wit, too wit, wit," said a little bird blithely.

Nancy and Nick peeped through the bushes to see who was singing and saw a little gray and white bird sitting on top of one of them, singing as though his throat would burst.

"My, but you have a nice voice!" said Nancy. "What's your name, little bird?"

"My name is Merry-Bill Mocking Bird," answered the little bird, not a bit frightened at seeing a little boy and girl so close to him.

"And where do you live?" asked Nick.

"Oh, most anywhere at all," answered Merry-Bill Mocking Bird. "I was born in my mother's nest, snugly hidden in some Spanish moss in an old oak-tree near a house in Dixie Land. I stayed at home until I was educated and since then I've lived 'most any place at all."

"Where you educated?" asked Nancy. "What did you learn?"

"Flying and singing and a few manners," said the little bird. "Although I am afraid I didn't learn any too many manners because I love to tease people so. Besides I can imitate any sound I have ever heard. That's where I get my name. I can mock anything from a cat to a sawmill."

"I know a bird that can do that!" said Nick. "He's called Casper Cat."

"Well I declare!" said Merry-Bill. "Isn't that interesting, though! Casper Cat-Bird is my cousin and he learned a lot from me. He can do almost anything that I can do."

"Say, Mister Mocking Bird," said Nancy. "can you go like a robin?"

"Can't I, though? Just listen!"

"Cherret, cherret, red and sweet, red and sweet, Good to eat, eat, eat, eat!"

"That's fine!" cried the Twins, clapping their hands with delight.

"Can you go like a crow?" asked Nick eager for more.

"Can't I just! Listen!" said Merry-Bill Mocking Bird, and he went. "Caw, caw, caw!" exactly like Chris Crow out in the cornfield.

After that he gave a regular concert, imitating every bird he knew from a wren to a parrot.

"That's grand!" said Nancy. "I think mocking birds must be the smartest birds there are in the world. Is there anything we can do for you?"

"I think not, thank you," answered Merry-Bill Mocking Bird. "Except to come and see me again sometime. Goodbye!"

"Goodbye!" said the Twins, as he flew away.

(To Be Continued)

(Copyright, 1923, NEA Service, Inc.)

CHILD'S STORY OF THE HUMAN RACE By Uncle Ray

CHAPTER 27
How Caves Tell History

We have often spoken of "digging in caves" to find the bones of people and the tools they used, and to learn what animals they killed for food. Very likely you have wondered: "How does this digging tell us history?"

To answer that question we are printing a drawing of the ground layers underneath the bottom of one of the scores of caves which have been examined.

This cave once had much more room in it than now. It appears that the floor was at first about 80 feet beneath the top of the cave. As time went on, the wind blew tiny dustlike particles through the entrance. "Bunks" fell from the ceiling now and then. People lived there and left things lying around. The level of the floor kept getting higher and higher as the ages past. The difference in any person's lifetime was slight but after thousands of years, the difference was great.

Examining the drawing closely—it shows nine layers beneath the present cave floor. The cross lines stand for levels at which ashes of fires were scattered about.

Scientists have figured out fairly closely how many years it took for each of the layers to be built up.

The lower layer (No. 1) was made first. No human bones were found in it, but there were remains of fires, and some crude stone tools. Bones of a rhinoceros and a bryna were found in that layer.

Layer two contained many traces of charcoal and disturbed fires.

In layer 3 were the skeletons of a woman about five feet two inches tall, and a youth a inch shorter. Bone tools as well as stone tools were found in this layer. Of animal bones there were those of the deer, the wild horse and the bryna.

In layer 4 was the skeleton of a man who must have been 6 feet, 4 inches tall. Bones of a leopard were nearby.

Layer 5 contained the remains of fires, as well as bones of the deer, ox and rabbit.

The next layer above is notable because it contains a large number of stones which fell from the ceiling of the cave. The cave seems to have been deserted for a long time after that happened.

In the uppermost three layers (7 to 9) were stone tools which showed better workmanship than those in the layers below. That proves men were improving in ability as time went on. The skeletons of two babies were found in layer 9. They are said to have been buried there more than fifteen thousand years ago.

This diagram shows how Nature has preserved a wondrous history in one of the caves of Europe.

Next: Praying Mice with Bone.

(Copyright, John F. Dille Co.)

Feeling Between the Two

is relieved quickly by applying a piece of cotton, saturated in Imperial Eucalypti Mixture, to affected parts at bedtime. All druggists are authorized to refund your money if it fails—Adv.

Democrats Take Kentucky, Pennsylvania, G. O. P.'s N. Y., Chicago

DEMOCRATS TAKE N. Y. ASSEMBLY

Democrats Place Judiciary Candidates

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Democratic judicial candidates were elected by a plurality of from 120,000 to 140,000 by Democrats and the democratic organizations in the other counties of New York City. It was indicated today.

Democratic newspapers conceded the republican majority in the state assembly would be 22.

In the city the proposal to increase salaries of firemen and police carried by a safe margin.

The water project was defeated and the soldiers' home won.

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 7.—House of Governor Smith to control the next lower house of the legislature were shattered at yesterday's election.

Practically complete but unofficial returns here early today show the republicans gained five seats in the lower house.

The democrats gained in New York City, winning the sixth and twenty-third districts. They also gained in the first Albany district.

Apparently the republicans returned Victor Kaufman from New York City.

These gains, however, were offset by republican gains upstate where the G. O. P. recaptured members from Columbia, Schuyler, Rockland, the second Hamilton, the first Oneida and the fifth Erie.

Chicago G. O. P.'s Win Slender Victory

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—The republican party won a slender victory in the Chicago municipal and county elections yesterday, practically complete returns today showed.

Twelve sitting judges in the superior court were re-elected. Eight justices were returned winners. The vote was the heaviest in years, about 500,000 ballots being counted.

The republicans of each eleven of a total of 20 counties court and replaced a republican judge in the county court when Mayor William Devor, democrat, resigned to take the mayoralty. Elected Mayor Bartelme, noted juvenile worker, in a campaign in circuit, and gave Oscar Wolf, republican candidate for common, a slight victory.

The democrats elected Thomas A. Doyle as representative from the fourth Illinois congressional district, placed John K. Peppel in a vacant seat in circuit court, and won a majority representation on the county board by electing Dan Ryan to fill a vacancy.

Miss Bartelme is the first woman to occupy such a high judicial office in Illinois. Defeated by her democratic opponent in Chicago, she was carried to a majority of 11,000 by the suburban and county vote.

Chicago voted to spend approximately $7,000,000 in local improvements, including a downtown bridge over the Chicago river and improvements in the West Side park system.

A school building tax proposition carrying nearly $3,000,000 in taxes annually, won almost 2 to 1.

Cook county defeated a proposed bond issue for a mammoth zoological park.

Sheriff Seizes 19 Boxes On Charges of Fraud

WILKES BARRE, Pa., Nov. 7.—Nineteen ballot boxes were impounded during the night by the sheriff following what he characterized as the "most disorderly election in years."

Charges of fraud, complaint of election officers and appeals for help to quell disorders poured into the sheriff's office over telephones from early evening until early today.

County officers believe that the republican county ticket has been elected except in a few offices. The city election was still in doubt with no ticket running neck and neck.

Republican Drys Are Victorious Over Demo Wets at Camden, N. J.

CAMDEN, N. J., Nov. 7.—Republican legislative candidates of Camden county, running on a dry platform, were elected over candidates of the non-partisan or fusion party, supporters of the wet cause, by a plurality of about 3,000 in yesterday's election according to early returns today.

WHITFIELD TAKES MISSISSIPPI CHAIR

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 7.—Henry I. Whitfield was chosen governor and a full state ticket elected in Mississippi's election yesterday. Only a small percentage of the state's enrolled voters were attracted to the polls. The democratic party was without opposition.

RICHMOND, VA., VOTES DOWN ROAD BONDS

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 7.—Richmond voted against an issue of bonds for improved highways at the election by approximately 30,000 yesterday.

CHILD HEALTH EXPERT COMING IN DECEMBER

BEAUMONT, Texas, Nov. 7.—Tentative plans have been completed to have Miss Margaret Carey, of the Child Health association of New York, lecture in Port Arthur, Texas, the early part of December. Miss Carey is on an extended tour over the State of Texas and expects to visit Beaumont, Port Arthur, Galveston, Waco, Orange and Denver.

Miss Carey's talks are given before school teachers, only and not directly to pupils. While in Texas she is working under the direction of the State University. Just now she is in Wichita Falls and will make an address before the National Child Welfare League there Thursday. She is also scheduled to give an address before the school teachers of Georgetown and Temple as well as at the health conferences of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs.

DEFENDANT IN COURT FINED FOR CONTEMPT

Corporation court was thrown in an uproar this morning when at the culmination of a trial on charges of drunkenness "Doc" Hedgcock was again sentenced for contempt of court after, officials say, he swung on one of the witnesses.

Hedgcock was fined $10 and costs on the intoxication charge and following the previous was fined $10 for contempt of court.

INFLUENZA

A preventive, melt and inhale night and morning—

VICKS
VAPORUB

Over 17 Million Test Used Yearly

BEAUTY is more than skin deep in SMITH SMART SHOES. Their fineness start from a basis of proven excellence. They are tremendously popular because they are invariably "as good as they look!" They've represented high standards of style and making for 30 years.

The Creased Vamp Oxford is trim and snappy. You'll find it here together with a wide selection of other new ones.

Price $11.00

Haber's
INCORPORATED

Department of
Smith Smart Shoes
JUST-THRU-WORTH

KLAN SWEEPS 20 OHIO CITIES

Lose in Steubenville, Scene of Recent Controversy

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 7.—The Ku Klux Klan made virtually a clean sweep in nearly a score of Ohio cities where it was carried to the polls as a dominant issue in yesterday's city elections.

In Youngstown where the Klan fight was hottest, the "Invisible Empire" scored a clean-cut victory in the election of Charles F. Scheible, who was chosen mayor over the nearest of his five opponents by a plurality of 10,000.

Other cities where the Klan claimed victory are: Newark, Portsmouth, Tiffin, Medina, Elgin, Washington, Centerville, Akron, Marion, East Liverpool, Ashland, Springfield, Magnolia Springs, and Cresskillville.

In Steubenville, scene of recent Klan controversy, H. B. Passavant, Klan favorite for mayor, was defeated by Frank H. Hawkins, republican.

KLANS WINS IN NEW JERSEY

JERSEY CITY, Nov. 7.—The republicans retain control of both the New Jersey senate and assembly, returns coming in from all parts of the state show. This is despite the fact that Governor Stiles took the stump during the campaign.

In Ocean and Monmouth counties the Ku Klux Klan played an important part in the democratic defeat. Governor Stiles in his election speech, attacked the Klan several times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 7.—Edward O. Quinn, republican, has been elected mayor for a fourth term, defeating Godfrey L. Cabot, republican, by a vote of 17,022 to 8,751.

Cousin of Coolidge Loses For U. S. Senate

MOUNT PELIER, Vt., Nov. 7.—Former Congressman Porter H. Dale, republican, was elected to the United States senate in a special senatorial election in Vermont yesterday, defeating Park H. Pollard, democrat, and cousin of President Coolidge.

Returns from 28 cities and towns in the state give Dale 30,650 votes and Pollard 15,631.

G. O. P.'s TAKE SCRANTON

SCRANTON, Pa., Nov. 7.—The republicans have piled up their usual big lead in the various city and county fights, returns of Tuesday's election indicated today. In this city the republicans elected all candidates for council and all candidates for school board.

DOERMUS ELECTED MAYOR OF DETROIT

DETROIT, Nov. 7.—Mayor Frank E. Doermus was re-elected by a vote of 8,100 to 1 over his single opponent in yesterday's election. Charter amendments increasing the city bonding limit and providing for a subway system were approved.

Plumber Thought He Needed New Pipes

"My stomach and intestines were always full of gas and I often had severe colic attacks. The pain and soreness caused me to think I needed a new set of pipes. Since taking May's Wonderful Remedy all this has disappeared and not only trouble now to make enough dough to buy all the food I'd like to eat." It is a simple harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis, one dose will convince or money refunded. At all druggists.—Adv.

KENDRICK IS MAYOR ELECT OF PHILADELPHIA

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 7.—W. Frederick Kendrick, 47, grand republican, today is mayor elect of Philadelphia, having defeated A. Raymond Raff, his democratic opponent, by a plurality of approximately 240,000 in Tuesday's elections.

All other republican candidates for industrial and municipal offices were successful in the election.

To Cure a Cold In One Day

Take

Effective

Bromo Quinine

Tablets

The tonic and laxative effect of Laxative BROMO QUININE Tablets will fortify the system against influenza and other serious ills resulting from a cold.

The box bears this signature
E. H. Brown
Price 30c.

SHINOLA

America's Home Shoe Polish

MAKES SHOES BRIGHT—KEEPS LEATHER RIGHT

The smart shine—the every-day shine for thrifty people who know that it's the little things that count big.

Black, Tan, White, Ox-blood, Brown

The SHINOLA Home Set is a household necessity. Makes family shoe shining easy, quick, and economical. Genuine bristle dauber and big lamb's wool polisher.

"The Shine for Mine!"

The Shinola box has a handy key—one turn and the cover pops off

Don't Be Afraid to Come To Drs. Blake & Sheffield

ANCHOR DENTURE PLATE—NO-ROOF

Why try to wear a plate that covers the roof of your mouth when you can come to us and have a no-roof plate made that is guaranteed to fit and will prevent gagging?

The only place in town they are to be had.

We have increased our force sufficiently to take care of all work without any unnecessary delays.

NOTE THESE LOW PRICES

Gold crowns $5.00 and up
Bridge Work, per tooth $5.00 and up
White Crowns $5.00 and up
Porcelain Fillings $1.00 and up
Silver Fillings $1.00 and up
Extractions, Painless $1.00
Teeth Cleaned $1.00
Set of Teeth $7.50 and up

EXTRACTIONS FREE when other work is ordered.

Broken plates repaired in one day if brought in before 10 o'clock in the morning.

DRS. BLAKE & SHEFFIELD

OFFICE HOURS—8 a. m. to 6 p. m.—Sundays 9 to 1
539 1/2 Procter—Upstairs—Over Bluestein's

(Dental Specialists)

Lady Attendant
Phone 2462

Deitser

BRUSHED WOOL SWEATERS CHAPPIE COAT STYLES

SWEATERS—SWEATERS
In all the styles that please in a wide range of colors such as tan, brown, blue, red, orange, mixtures; also many solid colors.

Chappie Coat Sweaters $8.95
The craze by all good dressers this new shipment is sure to have your choice among them.

Golf Sweaters $5.50
Plain or golf sweaters in tan, brown or blue with plain color back and sleeves, many pleasing styles in plain colors.

Boys' Sweaters $1.49 up
Have just received a new shipment of boys' sweaters in coat and slipper styles in blue, gray and brown combinations in most every size from 6 to 16 years.

Misses' Sweaters $1.98 up
Why not have the little miss look her best and keep her dry and warm these damp cold days, and what could be better than a good sweater.

Brushed Wool Sweaters $5.95
In a variety of styles and colors to combine with that new skirt, to make an ideal office costume.

Her Majesty Petticoats At Worth While Savings
Our entire stock of Her Majesty petticoats in all that's new is offered at worth while savings for one week only.

To $1.00 Knit Wear 59c
Ladies' and children's knit wear in union suits and two piece garments, special.

To $2.50 Knit Unions $1.19
Extra special values in ladies' knit unions in all styles and weights, short or long sleeves and ankle lengths.

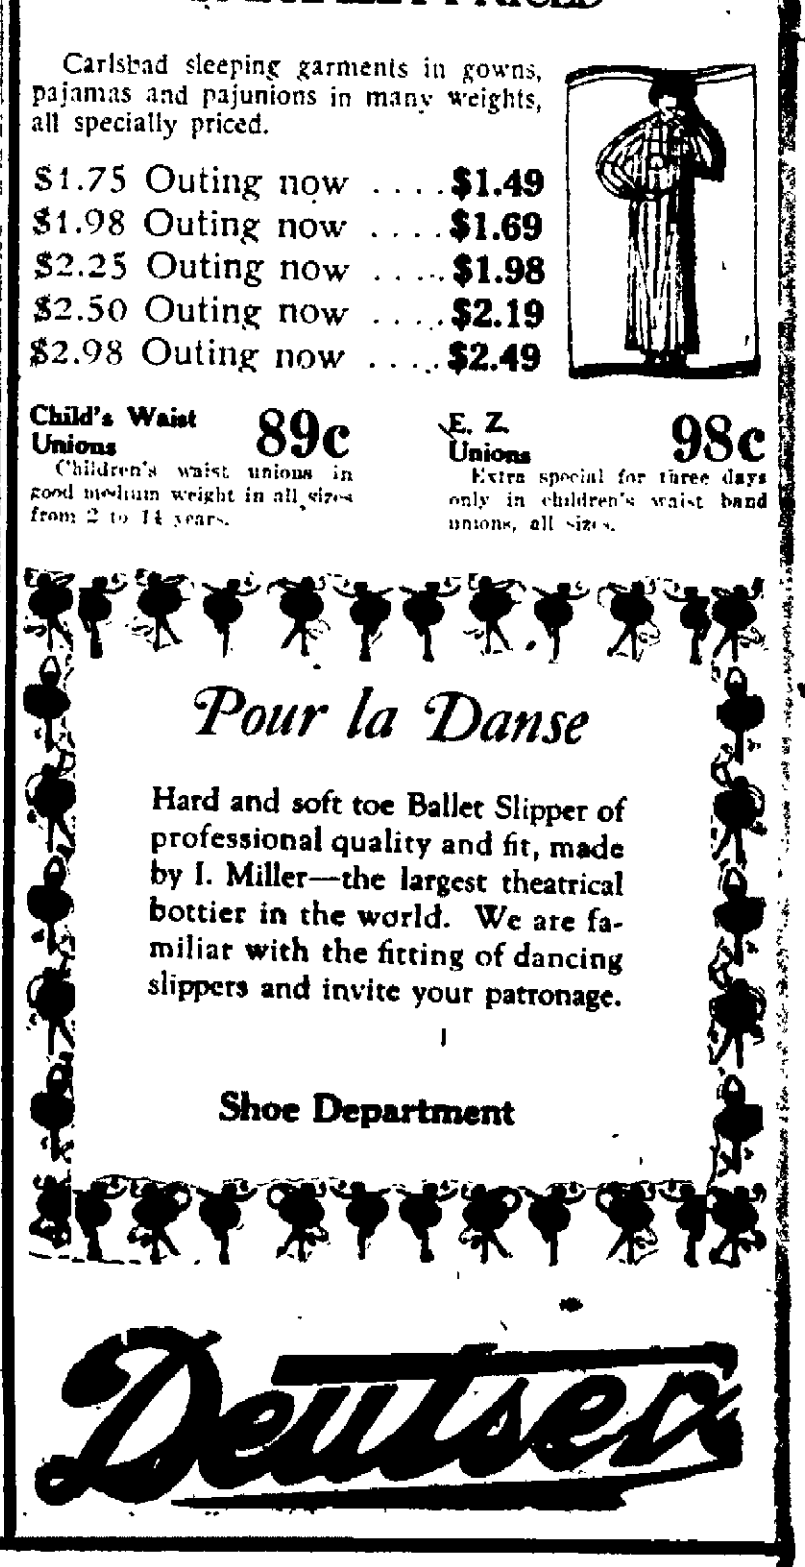

OUTING SLEEPING GARMENTS SPECIALLY PRICED

Carlsbad sleeping garments in gowns, pajamas and pajunions in many weights, all specially priced.

$1.75 Outing now $1.49
$1.98 Outing now $1.69
$2.25 Outing now $1.98
$2.50 Outing now $2.19
$2.98 Outing now $2.49

Child's Waist Unions 89c
Children's waist unions in good medium weight in all sizes from 2 to 14 years.

E. Z. Unions 98c
Extra special for three days only in children's waist band unions, all sizes.

Deitser

Pour la Danse

Hard and soft toe Ballet Slipper of professional quality and fit, made by I. Miller—the largest theatrical bottier in the world. We are familiar with the fitting of dancing slippers and invite your patronage.

Shoe Department

CROKER WEALTH AIDS TAMMANY

Spirit of Old Chief "Carries It"

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Richard Croker is dead, but Tammany Hall, the country's most powerful political machine which he helped assemble, will be guided in its campaign this fall by his voice.

Croker's voice speaks through his widow, Mrs. Edmondson Croker, who is in council with Tammany chiefs. She holds out the Croker millions for Tammany to do with as it will.

Behind this is a story of loyalty undying even in death—of double loyalty.

"All that I have I owe to the boys at Tammany Hall, and what I have is theirs. That is what Croker told his young wife shortly before he died. When he died a part of me died," says Mrs. Croker. "His spirit was with me after he died. It is with me now. And so now I am doing what I know he would do."

"Before my husband died," Mrs. Croker continued, "he told me that the most desirable quality in any man was gratitude. The boys in Tammany fought many a hard battle for me and with me," he said to me. "Go back to them. Tell them that they can command you as they would command me. I would rather have them think of me as loyal than to think of me as great."

And so Croker's widow has offered Tammany her money and her services. "I shall do anything except run for office," she says. If Al Smith, New York's governor, should gain the Democratic nomination for president, you'll probably see her as a campaign speaker throughout the country.

Croker met Mrs. Edmondson in September, 1914. In her teens she ran the hotel of the Cherokee Indians. She was studying music and public speaking. They were married in November.

"Destiny guided us," said Mrs. Croker. "Years before he met me, Mr. Croker had built a shack on some land in Florida. He called it 'The Wizard.' Little did he think that one day he would bring an Indian woman there to live."

"I do not know how much my husband's estate is worth, but that land in Florida is now valued at a million and a half. Tammany can have it, for the sake of Richard Croker is with me still and I cannot help but be loyal to his favorites."

Mrs. Croker, still young in years, is wearing yet the morning she donned at her husband's death.

"I have had such happiness as few women know," she said. "I do not need the fortune that was left me. I can live under a tree if necessary. Perhaps, some day, I shall adopt a child—but I shall never marry again."

SEEK HEIRS TO $15,000 ESTATE

Wife of Late Sam Miller Enters Petition

Special to The News.

BEAUMONT, Texas, Nov. 7.—A petition to decide who are the proper heirs to the estate of Sam Miller of Port Arthur, also known as Sam Wukonowich, was filed in county court at law Tuesday. The estate involved will total between $12,000 and $15,000.

The petition was signed by Anna Miller, wife of the deceased and given an account of the property of her late husband, consisting principally of houses and lots in Port Arthur in addition to cash and private property.

Divorces Filed.

Jennie Jefferson vs. Julius Jefferson.

J. L. Celestine vs. Rosa Celestine.

Edna Collins vs. Dave Collins.

J. L. Bongeria vs. Norma Bongeria.

Carl McFaddin vs. Wanda McFaddin.

Paul Reynolds vs. Ida Bell Reynolds.

Suits Filed.

J. Smith vs. John Mack.

Divorces Granted.

Martha Coleman from Sylvester Coleman.

Ida Nobles from Clyde Nobles.

Marriage Licenses.

Paul J. McDonald and Miss Maude Catheila.

Irene Miller and Miss Alice Holmes.

T. J. Taylor and Miss Dora Beard.

Automobile Licenses Issued.

A. Hinton, Sabine Pass, Texas.

A. K. Young, Lima Motor company.

Port Arthur, Ford.

Guy Shotton, Lima Motor company.

Port Arthur, Ford.

Oscar Benoit, Port Neches, Ford.

Mrs. U. S. Ray, 255 Sixth street.

Port Arthur, Chevrolet.

In Society

Mrs. Nina Diamantopoul, sister of the secretary of the Greek legation in Washington, will be presented to society there this winter. She is being entertained now by members of the diplomatic corps.

RIOT DANGERS LURK IN BERLIN

Starving Crowds Surround Food Stores

BERLIN, Nov. 7.—Berlin Jews today had weathered the first storm of anti-semitic rioting in the present food crisis.

Placards on many shops in the Jewish quarter proclaiming the owners to be Christians and announcing how many hundreds of loaves they had given to the poor brought a respite from the plundering. A visit to the Barn quarter, where many Jews live, showed the danger of fresh rioting was still lurking.

Threats Muttered. Crowds of ragged, hungry looking men, women and children stood idly about the streets, eyeing the placards distrustfully and enviously catching glimpses of the persons inside.

"They have houses and we have not a roof over our heads," muttered some, while others could be heard grumbling "even if they are Germans, they haven't any right to be in Germany when people are starving and they all have food and jewels."

The government was doing its utmost to save all classes from attack. Police arrested 300 looters.

But outbreaks of rage occurred occasionally when crowds saw Jewish women returning old bread to bakeries in an effort to exchange it at yesterday's excessively high prices.

U. S. Money Hoarded. Cries that they had tried to hoard supplies were heard, though no further attacks had been reported early today.

A party of boys started an attack bought them off with bottles of honey on one shop but the proprietor soon American dollars brought into the country by money bootleggers were being sold quietly for between two and three trillion marks.

Women taking dogs through the streets were stopped by gruff men who demanded why they were spending money to feed pups while people were starving.

By noon the number of arrests in recent outbreaks of plundering had reached 500, police said.

Of these only about 100 will be tried as the police want to avoid dealing too harshly with those who have been driven by starvation to get food as best they can, it was said.

OXFORD SUCCEEDS STEDMAN ON BOARD

Special to The News.

BEAUMONT, Texas, Nov. 7.—The vacancy in the county school board created by the death of Guy Stedman will be filled by Hubert Oxford, Beaumont. A meeting was held at the office of Miss Mary Sandall, county superintendent of schools Monday night at which time the appointment was made. Those present at the meeting included R. E. Krohn of Sabine Pass, H. P. Triplett, Beaumont, and J. W. Kinnear South Park.

MRS. MOORE TO FIGHT AGAINST EXTRADITION

BEAUMONT, Texas, Nov. 7.—Mrs. Clara Moore is to appear here today to answer charges of being a fugitive from justice in connection with the kidnapping of her daughter, Clara Rosa Moore in Chicago. Charges were filed by her former husband, Victor Moore, who is attempting to have her returned to Chicago.

The girl was away to her mother about a week ago in Temple, with the understanding that she was to be placed in a school pending the outcome of the legal battle.

In a hearing at Austin Monday Governor Neff granted a requisition for her return to Chicago. Mrs. Moore is expected to fight the extradition at the hearing today.

Safe in Paris. In Paris he was safe, there, at least, he had a friend. Berthe Mulon, known in her set as "Pepe," had met Mourey when he was the exalted leader of the outside-the-law band of a part of Paris which might be compared with the "Gas House" district of New York half a generation ago. Her calling was such that nobody was scandalized at their association. "He had such distinguished manners," Berthe said the other day. "How could I resist him?"

When "Ginibri" Mourey came back to his old haunts, with the police of

Bandit Butler's Capture Reveals A Romantic Record

Contains All Elements of Mystery, Love, Murder, Honor of Thieves, Fidelity and Temptation

PARIS, Nov. 5.—When Alphonse Mourey, the international bandit who held up the household of the New York banker, A. H. Shattuck, and got away with several thousand dollars in cash and jewelry, was captured after a stirring fight with French police there was revealed a real life story which would supply material enough for an enticing tale of fiction.

Nothing is lacking. Mystery, love, murder, the honor of thieves, the wireless of the underworld, fidelity under stress of poverty and temptation—every one of the strings on which writers of popular crime stories play their little sentimental symphonies is represented. There are even disguised detectives and the inevitable revolver duel with the bold, bad man when he is cornered.

Once Before Imprisoned. Not even the French police know anything very definite about Mourey's career, except that in Barcelona he was called the "Chief of the Crooks," and in Paris the "St. Antoine Kid," he having lived here in the quarter bearing the name of the saint. But the only time they ever "got" him previously was in 1905, when Mourey was sent to Devil's Island, the penal colony off the coast of South America, for his part in the murder of a woman restaurant casher.

A Perfect Butler. Since that time his life record is mostly in the archives of the police of the United States and Mexico. Banker Shattuck thought he was a perfect butler. So did another American banker in Illinois. Several wealthy people in the Middle West took him as his own valet as a first-class chef. Mr. Shattuck awoke to a realization of the facts when he found himself and his family locked in the cellar of their Washington Square home and recognized the chief of the hold-up gang as the erstwhile trusted servant.

Beating away from New York after the haul, Mourey found that the life of the international crook was exposed to many pitfalls. In Mexico City he learned that there was a reward offered by the New York bank of $15,000 for his capture. His own rule he would trust, but what about the others? So, he quickly got what he could for his share of the plunder—and took the first boat for Paris.

Pistol Battle. Two weeks more and one afternoon Mourey, after a pistol battle which

two continents on his track and more than half of his own world out for a chance to get that $15,000 of which the whole underworld was talking, he decided that the only place for him was in a Parisian suburb, not deep enough in the provinces for the local gendarmes to get suspicious, not too close to Paris itself for the watchful eyes of the police of the capital. He chose Chelles-Gourney, on the Marne, and became a fisherman.

Sweetheart Followed. There for seven months he was visited three or four times a week by Berthe Mulon, who brought him money and news. The chief part of the news was that the Paris police knew her and that she was followed each time she went to see him. Her "earnings" amounted to about 60 or 70 francs, possibly three and a half to four dollars a day. She had only to drop a hint to the prefecture of police in Paris and $15,000, or a fortune beyond her dreams of avarice to one of her calling, were hers.

Yet it took the best Paris sleuths several months to find just where it was that Berthe went so often. She changed cars three or four times on her way out, and when she thought she was shadowed, returned home. One evening the detectives were too close to be shaken. Mourey's hiding place was discovered. Then two Paris inspectors also became fishermen and frequented the little restaurant by the name of "L'Ami Emile" at Chelles-Gourney.

Pistol Battle. Two weeks more and one afternoon Mourey, after a pistol battle which

two continents on his track and more than half of his own world out for a chance to get that $15,000 of which the whole underworld was talking, he decided that the only place for him was in a Parisian suburb, not deep enough in the provinces for the local gendarmes to get suspicious, not too close to Paris itself for the watchful eyes of the police of the capital. He chose Chelles-Gourney, on the Marne, and became a fisherman.

Sweetheart Followed. There for seven months he was visited three or four times a week by Berthe Mulon, who brought him money and news. The chief part of the news was that the Paris police knew her and that she was followed each time she went to see him. Her "earnings" amounted to about 60 or 70 francs, possibly three and a half to four dollars a day. She had only to drop a hint to the prefecture of police in Paris and $15,000, or a fortune beyond her dreams of avarice to one of her calling, were hers.

Yet it took the best Paris sleuths several months to find just where it was that Berthe went so often. She changed cars three or four times on her way out, and when she thought she was shadowed, returned home. One evening the detectives were too close to be shaken. Mourey's hiding place was discovered. Then two Paris inspectors also became fishermen and frequented the little restaurant by the name of "L'Ami Emile" at Chelles-Gourney.

Pistol Battle. Two weeks more and one afternoon Mourey, after a pistol battle which

two continents on his track and more than half of his own world out for a chance to get that $15,000 of which the whole underworld was talking, he decided that the only place for him was in a Parisian suburb, not deep enough in the provinces for the local gendarmes to get suspicious, not too close to Paris itself for the watchful eyes of the police of the capital. He chose Chelles-Gourney, on the Marne, and became a fisherman.

Sweetheart Followed. There for seven months he was visited three or four times a week by Berthe Mulon, who brought him money and news. The chief part of the news was that the Paris police knew her and that she was followed each time she went to see him. Her "earnings" amounted to about 60 or 70 francs, possibly three and a half to four dollars a day. She had only to drop a hint to the prefecture of police in Paris and $15,000, or a fortune beyond her dreams of avarice to one of her calling, were hers.

Yet it took the best Paris sleuths several months to find just where it was that Berthe went so often. She changed cars three or four times on her way out, and when she thought she was shadowed, returned home. One evening the detectives were too close to be shaken. Mourey's hiding place was discovered. Then two Paris inspectors also became fishermen and frequented the little restaurant by the name of "L'Ami Emile" at Chelles-Gourney.

Pistol Battle. Two weeks more and one afternoon Mourey, after a pistol battle which

two continents on his track and more than half of his own world out for a chance to get that $15,000 of which the whole underworld was talking, he decided that the only place for him was in a Parisian suburb, not deep enough in the provinces for the local gendarmes to get suspicious, not too close to Paris itself for the watchful eyes of the police of the capital. He chose Chelles-Gourney, on the Marne, and became a fisherman.

Sweetheart Followed. There for seven months he was visited three or four times a week by Berthe Mulon, who brought him money and news. The chief part of the news was that the Paris police knew her and that she was followed each time she went to see him. Her "earnings" amounted to about 60 or 70 francs, possibly three and a half to four dollars a day. She had only to drop a hint to the prefecture of police in Paris and $15,000, or a fortune beyond her dreams of avarice to one of her calling, were hers.

Yet it took the best Paris sleuths several months to find just where it was that Berthe went so often. She changed cars three or four times on her way out, and when she thought she was shadowed, returned home. One evening the detectives were too close to be shaken. Mourey's hiding place was discovered. Then two Paris inspectors also became fishermen and frequented the little restaurant by the name of "L'Ami Emile" at Chelles-Gourney.

Pistol Battle. Two weeks more and one afternoon Mourey, after a pistol battle which

two continents on his track and more than half of his own world out for a chance to get that $15,000 of which the whole underworld was talking, he decided that the only place for him was in a Parisian suburb, not deep enough in the provinces for the local gendarmes to get suspicious, not too close to Paris itself for the watchful eyes of the police of the capital. He chose Chelles-Gourney, on the Marne, and became a fisherman.

Sweetheart Followed. There for seven months he was visited three or four times a week by Berthe Mulon, who brought him money and news. The chief part of the news was that the Paris police knew her and that she was followed each time she went to see him. Her "earnings" amounted to about 60 or 70 francs, possibly three and a half to four dollars a day. She had only to drop a hint to the prefecture of police in Paris and $15,000, or a fortune beyond her dreams of avarice to one of her calling, were hers.

Yet it took the best Paris sleuths several months to find just where it was that Berthe went so often. She changed cars three or four times on her way out, and when she thought she was shadowed, returned home. One evening the detectives were too close to be shaken. Mourey's hiding place was discovered. Then two Paris inspectors also became fishermen and frequented the little restaurant by the name of "L'Ami Emile" at Chelles-Gourney.

Pistol Battle. Two weeks more and one afternoon Mourey, after a pistol battle which

two continents on his track and more than half of his own world out for a chance to get that $15,000 of which the whole underworld was talking, he decided that the only place for him was in a Parisian suburb, not deep enough in the provinces for the local gendarmes to get suspicious, not too close to Paris itself for the watchful eyes of the police of the capital. He chose Chelles-Gourney, on the Marne, and became a fisherman.

Sweetheart Followed. There for seven months he was visited three or four times a week by Berthe Mulon, who brought him money and news. The chief part of the news was that the Paris police knew her and that she was followed each time she went to see him. Her "earnings" amounted to about 60 or 70 francs, possibly three and a half to four dollars a day. She had only to drop a hint to the prefecture of police in Paris and $15,000, or a fortune beyond her dreams of avarice to one of her calling, were hers.

Yet it took the best Paris sleuths several months to find just where it was that Berthe went so often. She changed cars three or four times on her way out, and when she thought she was shadowed, returned home. One evening the detectives were too close to be shaken. Mourey's hiding place was discovered. Then two Paris inspectors also became fishermen and frequented the little restaurant by the name of "L'Ami Emile" at Chelles-Gourney.

Pistol Battle. Two weeks more and one afternoon Mourey, after a pistol battle which

two continents on his track and more than half of his own world out for a chance to get that $15,000 of which the whole underworld was talking, he decided that the only place for him was in a Parisian suburb, not deep enough in the provinces for the local gendarmes to get suspicious, not too close to Paris itself for the watchful eyes of the police of the capital. He chose Chelles-Gourney, on the Marne, and became a fisherman.

Sweetheart Followed. There for seven months he was visited three or four times a week by Berthe Mulon, who brought him money and news. The chief part of the news was that the Paris police knew her and that she was followed each time she went to see him. Her "earnings" amounted to about 60 or 70 francs, possibly three and a half to four dollars a day. She had only to drop a hint to the prefecture of police in Paris and $15,000, or a fortune beyond her dreams of avarice to one of her calling, were hers.

Yet it took the best Paris sleuths several months to find just where it was that Berthe went so often. She changed cars three or four times on her way out, and when she thought she was shadowed, returned home. One evening the detectives were too close to be shaken. Mourey's hiding place was discovered. Then two Paris inspectors also became fishermen and frequented the little restaurant by the name of "L'Ami Emile" at Chelles-Gourney.

Pistol Battle. Two weeks more and one afternoon Mourey, after a pistol battle which

two continents on his track and more than half of his own world out for a chance to get that $15,000 of which the whole underworld was talking, he decided that the only place for him was in a Parisian suburb, not deep enough in the provinces for the local gendarmes to get suspicious, not too close to Paris itself for the watchful eyes of the police of the capital. He chose Chelles-Gourney, on the Marne, and became a fisherman.

Sweetheart Followed. There for seven months he was visited three or four times a week by Berthe Mulon, who brought him money and news. The chief part of the news was that the Paris police knew her and that she was followed each time she went to see him. Her "earnings" amounted to about 60 or 70 francs, possibly three and a half to four dollars a day. She had only to drop a hint to the prefecture of police in Paris and $15,000, or a fortune beyond her dreams of avarice to one of her calling, were hers.

Yet it took the best Paris sleuths several months to find just where it was that Berthe went so often. She changed cars three or four times on her way out, and when she thought she was shadowed, returned home. One evening the detectives were too close to be shaken. Mourey's hiding place was discovered. Then two Paris inspectors also became fishermen and frequented the little restaurant by the name of "L'Ami Emile" at Chelles-Gourney.

Pistol Battle. Two weeks more and one afternoon Mourey, after a pistol battle which

two continents on his track and more than half of his own world out for a chance to get that $15,000 of which the whole underworld was talking, he decided that the only place for him was in a Parisian suburb, not deep enough in the provinces for the local gendarmes to get suspicious, not too close to Paris itself for the watchful eyes of the police of the capital. He chose Chelles-Gourney, on the Marne, and became a fisherman.

Sweetheart Followed. There for seven months he was visited three or four times a week by Berthe Mulon, who brought him money and news. The chief part of the news was that the Paris police knew her and that she was followed each time she went to see him. Her "earnings" amounted to about 60 or 70 francs, possibly three and a half to four dollars a day. She had only to drop a hint to the prefecture of police in Paris and $15,000, or a fortune beyond her dreams of avarice to one of her calling, were hers.

Yet it took the best Paris sleuths several months to find just where it was that Berthe went so often. She changed cars three or four times on her way out, and when she thought she was shadowed, returned home. One evening the detectives were too close to be shaken. Mourey's hiding place was discovered. Then two Paris inspectors also became fishermen and frequented the little restaurant by the name of "L'Ami Emile" at Chelles-Gourney.

Pistol Battle. Two weeks more and one afternoon Mourey, after a pistol battle which

two continents on his track and more than half of his own world out for a chance to get that $15,000 of which the whole underworld was talking, he decided that the only place for him was in a Parisian suburb, not deep enough in the provinces for the local gendarmes to get suspicious, not too close to Paris itself for the watchful eyes of the police of the capital. He chose Chelles-Gourney, on the Marne, and became a fisherman.

Sweetheart Followed. There for seven months he was visited three or four times a week by Berthe Mulon, who brought him money and news. The chief part of the news was that the Paris police knew her and that she was followed each time she went to see him. Her "earnings" amounted to about 60 or 70 francs, possibly three and a half to four dollars a day. She had only to drop a hint to the prefecture of police in Paris and $15,000, or a fortune beyond her dreams of avarice to one of her calling, were hers.

Yet it took the best Paris sleuths several months to find just where it was that Berthe went so often. She changed cars three or four times on her way out, and when she thought she was shadowed, returned home. One evening the detectives were too close to be shaken. Mourey's hiding place was discovered. Then two Paris inspectors also became fishermen and frequented the little restaurant by the name of "L'Ami Emile" at Chelles-Gourney.

Pistol Battle. Two weeks more and one afternoon Mourey, after a pistol battle which

two continents on his track and more than half of his own world out for a chance to get that $15,000 of which the whole underworld was talking, he decided that the only place for him was in a Parisian suburb, not deep enough in the provinces for the local gendarmes to get suspicious, not too close to Paris itself for the watchful eyes of the police of the capital. He chose Chelles-Gourney, on the Marne, and became a fisherman.

Sweetheart Followed. There for seven months he was visited three or four times a week by Berthe Mulon, who brought him money and news. The chief part of the news was that the Paris police knew her and that she was followed each time she went to see him. Her "earnings" amounted to about 60 or 70 francs, possibly three and a half to four dollars a day. She had only to drop a hint to the prefecture of police in Paris and $15,000, or a fortune beyond her dreams of avarice to one of her calling, were hers.

Yet it took the best Paris sleuths several months to find just where it was that Berthe went so often. She changed cars three or four times on her way out, and when she thought she was shadowed, returned home. One evening the detectives were too close to be shaken. Mourey's hiding place was discovered. Then two Paris inspectors also became fishermen and frequented the little restaurant by the name of "L'Ami Emile" at Chelles-Gourney.

Pistol Battle. Two weeks more and one afternoon Mourey, after a pistol battle which

two continents on his track and more than half of his own world out for a chance to get that $15,000 of which the whole underworld was talking, he decided that the only place for him was in a Parisian suburb, not deep enough in the provinces for the local gendarmes to get suspicious, not too close to Paris itself for the watchful eyes of the police of the capital. He chose Chelles-Gourney, on the Marne, and became a fisherman.

Sweetheart Followed. There for seven months he was visited three or four times a week by Berthe Mulon, who brought him money and news. The chief part of the news was that the Paris police knew her and that she was followed each time she went to see him. Her "earnings" amounted to about 60 or 70 francs, possibly three and a half to four dollars a day. She had only to drop a hint to the prefecture of police in Paris and $15,000, or a fortune beyond her dreams of avarice to one of her calling, were hers.

Yet it took the best Paris sleuths several months to find just where it was that Berthe went so often. She changed cars three or four times on her way out, and when she thought she was shadowed, returned home. One evening the detectives were too close to be shaken. Mourey's hiding place was discovered. Then two Paris inspectors also became fishermen and frequented the little restaurant by the name of "L'Ami Emile" at Chelles-Gourney.

Pistol Battle. Two weeks more and one afternoon Mourey, after a pistol battle which

two continents on his track and more than half of his own world out for a chance to get that $15,000 of which the whole underworld was talking, he decided that the only place for him was in a Parisian suburb, not deep enough in the provinces for the local gendarmes to get suspicious, not too close to Paris itself for the watchful eyes of the police of the capital. He chose Chelles-Gourney, on the Marne, and became a fisherman.

Sweetheart Followed. There for seven months he was visited three or four times a week by Berthe Mulon, who brought him money and news. The chief part of the news was that the Paris police knew her and that she was followed each time she went to see him. Her "earnings" amounted to about 60 or 70 francs, possibly three and a half to four dollars a day. She had only to drop a hint to the prefecture of police in Paris and $15,000, or a fortune beyond her dreams of avarice to one of her calling, were hers.

Yet it took the best Paris sleuths several months to find just where it was that Berthe went so often. She changed cars three or four times on her way out, and when she thought she was shadowed, returned home. One evening the detectives were too close to be shaken. Mourey's hiding place was discovered. Then two Paris inspectors also became fishermen and frequented the little restaurant by the name of "L'Ami Emile" at Chelles-Gourney.

Pistol Battle. Two weeks more and one afternoon Mourey, after a pistol battle which

two continents on his track and more than half of his own world out for a chance to get that $15,000 of which the whole underworld was talking, he decided that the only place for him was in a Parisian suburb, not deep enough in the provinces for the local gendarmes to get suspicious, not too close to Paris itself for the watchful eyes of the police of the capital. He chose Chelles-Gourney, on the Marne, and became a fisherman.

Sweetheart Followed. There for seven months he was visited three or four times a week by Berthe Mulon, who brought him money and news. The chief part of the news was that the Paris police knew her and that she was followed each time she went to see him. Her "earnings" amounted to about 60 or 70 francs, possibly three and a half to four dollars a day. She had only to drop a hint to the prefecture of police in Paris and $15,000, or a fortune beyond her dreams of avarice to one of her calling, were hers.

Yet it took the best Paris sleuths several months to find just where it was that Berthe went so often. She changed cars three or four times on her way out, and when she thought she was shadowed, returned home. One evening the detectives were too close to be shaken. Mourey's hiding place was discovered. Then two Paris inspectors also became fishermen and frequented the little restaurant by the name of "L'Ami Emile" at Chelles-Gourney.

Pistol Battle. Two weeks more and one afternoon Mourey, after a pistol battle which

two continents on his track and more than half of his own world out for a chance to get that $15,000 of which the whole underworld was talking, he decided that the only place for him was in a Parisian suburb, not deep enough in the provinces for the local gendarmes to get suspicious, not too close to Paris itself for the watchful eyes of the police of the capital. He chose Chelles-Gourney, on the Marne, and became a fisherman.

REVEALS LIFE HISTORY

Vienna Man Is Wonder of His World

LONDON, Nov. 7.—If you have any doubts from your wife, your mother-in-law, your business boss, or the police, give a wide berth to Rudolf Scherermann, who is on his way to America. And above all, don't let him get his eyes on any of your handwriting.

For Scherermann is declared to be the modern miracle man. Just a couple of lines, scribbled by you, reveals to him your past and your future, your aptitudes, your habits, your illnesses, everything a person would want to know about you and, perhaps, more than you know about yourself.

Scherermann, whose people are of Polish origin, used to work at a regular job in Vienna as fire damage appraiser. Suddenly he discovered his extraordinary powers as a graphologist and has been at it ever since, giving exhibitions of his gifts before scientific men in Vienna, Budapest, Prague and Zurich.

No Card Index
There is no possibility of his having a card index on all the people whose handwriting he examines. The stuff doesn't even have to be signed. All he needs is a few lines of your ordinary script.

By some unexplained gift, he at once deduces from this a physical and psychological photograph of the writer, telling about his trait, voice and gestures, aptitudes and failings, state of health, likes and dislikes, traits of character and temperament. But that is not all.

The accumulation of personal, psycho-physical detail is merely the raw material of his vision. Out of this detail revealed to him by the dots and line of your handwriting, he is said to tell the course of your life.

Held as Forger

Three samples:
First—He analyzed the handwriting of a man who came to him. Scherermann said the writer used to have his face smooth-shaven; that the heavy black mustache was something designed to disguise him; that he was in trouble because of his cleverness at imitating other people's script. Not long after, the man was arrested by the police as a forger for whom a warrant had been long standing.

Second—A young woman submitted her handwriting. He told her she had quarreled with her lover, had taken to drugs and was contemplating suicide. She confessed it was true.

Third—Another girl showed the script of her sweetheart. He told her the young man had ineffectual tuberculosis and advised her to wait until he was cured. The doctor's examination showed this was the truth.

In Vienna where he lives they say that of the analyses made by Scherermann 70 per cent were correct, 22 per cent partly right and partly wrong and only 8 per cent totally in error. Scherermann personally strongly objects to be classed with clairvoyants and mediums.

Some Viennese scientists think he has a sixth sense. He has been carefully watched by Professor Benedikt, the famous specialist of Vienna University. Benedikt admits seeing some wonderful things, but says he can't explain them.

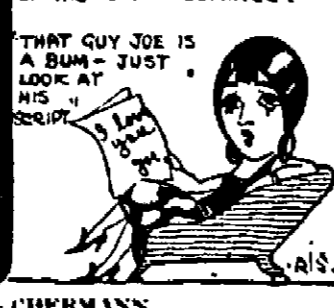

His Eye
Scherermann's own theory is that the whole individuality of a man, with all the details of his life, is microscopically contained in his script and the trained eye perceives all in a sequence of pictures passing like those of a movie film.

And just as a movie film can be reversed, so Scherermann can reverse his process. Just from looking at your script, he can tell you about yourself, so from looking at you he can tell you what your handwriting is like. It is claimed his imitations of people's handwriting made by merely studying the person himself have in a majority of cases been very similar to the real handwriting.

The Modern Miracle Man

BY STUDYING HUSBAND'S HAND WRITING, THE WIFE
WILL BE ABLE TO DETECT ALL OF HIS "SHORT COMINGS".

MAXWELL CHERMANN

Amusements

SCHEDULE OF AMUSEMENTS WEDNESDAY

Peoples: "Enemies of Women," with Lionel Barrymore and Anna
Rubens starred.

Peoples: Guy Bates Post featured in
"Omar the Tentmaker."

Strand: Musical bill, "Civilian
Clothes," and Francis X. Bushman
and Beverly Bayne in "Modern Marriage."

Green Tree: "Honeyed Lips" and Ep.
8 of "Steel Trail."

Elks: Bonnie Kirkland's Musical Revue in musical bill.

THURSDAY

Peoples: Lionel Barrymore and Al-A. Rubens starred in "Enemies of Women."

Peoples: "Omar, The Tentmaker," starring Guy Bates Post.

Strand: Musical bill, "Civilian
Clothes," and Francis X. Bushman
and Beverly Bayne in "Modern Marriage."

Green Tree: John Gilbert in "The Love Gambler," and Ep. 11 of
"Fighting Blood."

WAR NOVEL

"Enemies of Women," a war novel
by Vicente Blasco Ibañez, the Spanish novelist, is at the Peoples Theatre today, with Lionel Barrymore and Anna Rubens heading a notable cast.
"Enemies of Women," which has been rated by photoplay critics as one of the finest productions of the year, contains numerous scenes actually

"shot" in Monte Carlo and Paris.
The war scenes especially the sinking of ships by submarines, are declared to be unequalled.

VARIOUS NATIONS ARE REPRESENTED

Speaking no specific language, yet telling its tale in a tongue that all can understand, the screen attracts to itself actors from all over the world and from every clime. Seldom has this truth been so adequately illustrated as in Guy Bates Post's latest production, "Omar the Tentmaker," running at the Peoples theatre.

ELKS THEATRE

Changing the program at the Elks theatre today, the Bonnie Kirkland forces will present "You Never Can Tell," throughout the remaining days of this week, and Sunday another new bill will be put on, featuring the Jung Brothers, acrobat comedians, the management of the theatre announced today.

Harry Smoke Johnson and Bonnie Kirkland will be seen in the comedy roles of "You Never Can Tell," Johnson playing the part of the blackface comedian, and Kirkland plays a female role. Cavasos starts in the field of impersonations today, featuring one of Charlie Chaplin, screen comedian, and various other famous characters. Spanish dances, music and novelties also will be given by the Cavasos forces.
Variety musical numbers and novelties by chorus and vocalists are interspersed throughout "You Never

PERFECT MAN IS PREDICTED

Superior Race Coming Says
Scientist

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 7.—
Birth of a new race of superior beings, perfect men and women in every sense of the word, is about to come to pass.

If the 33-year-old dream of Dr.
Azimur Ibn Lucas, founder and head of the Super-Race Foundation of Rochester and New York comes true, the method of creating this superior race is really a complex matter.
Dr. Lucas, in a long and earnest interview, explained everything, which for the purpose of dissemination to the public, may be stated as follows:
This January the work of the Super-Race Foundation will find concrete expression in a convention called "The American Congress of Superior Citizens." Dr. Lucas believes only the pure-blooded Caucasian should rule the United States, just as only the pure-blooded Mongolian should control the reigns of government of China.

Scher lag Super-Parents
At this congress he hopes to have,
besides the delegates, a group of about 100 men and women, equally divided.
These will have been selected in various states of the country and at the congress will receive tests of intellect, body and morality.

He believes that out of the supermen and women thus found, probably ten per cent will fall in love with each other and eventually marry, although he will not in any way try to force such a thing.

These six persons, three couples,
will go out into the world, teaching
the doctrines of the superior man, multiplying themselves, and in that way eventually wipe out those discussed in body and mind.

"I hesitate to say how long this will take. Probably ten generations, probably 20 or 30. But why rush?
There is no hurry," Dr. Lucas says.
"Granted that the man and woman, found to be superior, are in complete harmony, they can beget children whose sex they not only can determine before birth, but whose vocation as well they can forecast.

"There must be a mutual, soulful understanding. They must be able to project the picture of the type of child they wish. Many say that if time, but the goat ate the eggs.

the sex and vocation of a child can be predetermined, that all persons will wish for doctors, lawyers, writers and such.

"But remember that a stream can go no higher than its source and the same applies to human beings.
Parents are of the lower type, their children will likewise have those tendencies. And that stands for each type of human of which there are 12.

Women to Choose Husbands
"Some say that everyone will want a boy. But I believe that the woman will have the first choice and that should be a girl.

"The woman certainly should choose her husband, even if it is necessary to propose to him.
"Certainly, when the superior race comes into existence, there will be no disease, no worry, no trouble, no hatred, no wars."

GOAT EXERCISED CHICKS
BUT ATE THEIR EGGS

By United News.
OMAHA, Nov. 7.—Exercise,
Joe Sherman read in one of the farm magazines, would make his hens lay more eggs.

So Joe got himself a goat and placed it in the hen-coop to chase the chickens around.
The hens did their stuff, laying over-
time, but the goat ate the eggs.

Good to the last drop

A man's humor tells what kind of coffee
he had for breakfast.

The enticing aroma of Maxwell House
Coffee quickens one's pace to the breakfast room, and whets the appetite for a satisfying morning meal.

It is not alone the taste that has made a nation call Maxwell House Coffee "Good to the Last Drop," but the taste, plus uniformity of flavor. It never varies.

If you are not already enjoying the taste that is "Good to the Last Drop," you can easily order it from your dealer in select tins.

MAXWELL HOUSE COFFEE

2 styles of Quaker Oats

—One New!

Quick Quaker

cooks in 3 to 5 minutes

Makes Oats the Quickest Breakfast

Your grocer now has 2 styles of Quaker
Oats—QUICK QUAKER and regular Quaker Oats, the kind you've always known.

For a hot breakfast quick, ask for
QUICK QUAKER.

Cooks in half the time of coffee—
scarcely longer than simple toasted bread.
Same plump oats as regular Quaker Oats. But cut before flaking, rolled very thin and partly cooked—smaller flakes
that cook faster, that's the only difference.
All that rare Quaker flavor. All the joy of hot breakfasts without bother or delay.

Quickly now have two
kinds of Quaker Oats—Quick Quaker and Regular Quaker Oats, the kind you have always known.

ELKS THEATRE

Tonight and Balance of Wee-KIRKLAND'S REVUE

in Double Black Face Play Entitled

"YOU NEVER CAN TELL"

Featuring

Smoke Johnson and Bonnie Kirkland

See CHARLIE CHAPLIN Alive

Hear BLANCH SMITH, Blues Singer

PRICES 10 & 40c

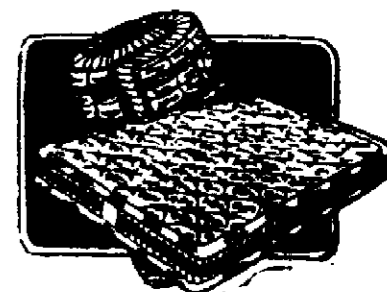

SPECIAL! SPECIAL!

$12.50 Crescent Beds $10.00

Here is a real bargain. The bed has 2-inch posts. Just right for a good night's rest. Made for looks, too. Composed of metal with many designs and colors to choose from. Very handsome and durable. We are overstocked or we could not sell at this low price.
A DOLLAR DOWN WILL DO

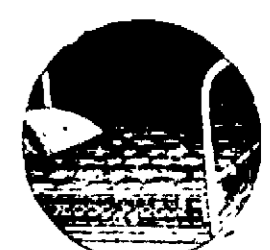

This is one of the most important sales of beds and bedding ever held in Port Arthur. Don't fail to attend. Be here early.

$12.50 Mattresses $10

These mattresses are all cotton, and the best mattress made. Composed of long, white staple cotton, guaranteed 25 years. Non-stretch, non-spread. Assorted colors.

$1 Down Will Do

3400 Pounds Ran
Over This Spring

You, that very thing happened
to this Spring we are displaying.
In order to see what would happen
the manufacturers had a 3400
pound tractor run over the spring and the powerful spring came right back into place as though it had been untouched. This is a marvelous test of durability and strength.

Are You Ready For Winter?

We are. We have the finest assessment of blankets, comforts, etc., you ever saw. We anticipate a cold, hard winter and laid in a big stock. But we don't want to be caught with them on our hands. So we are going to reduce the prices
in order to move them quickly.
Come in now and see the splendid stock we have.

Don't Forget Your
New Perfection
Oil Heater

See our line of merchandise.
Suitable for Christmas Gifts.

Blankets $8.00

Best quality wool blankets in assorted colors. Just the thing for the cold winter nights that will soon be here.

$1 Down Will Do

DELIGHTFUL, BEAUTIFUL, WARM
LARGE COMFORTS $6.95

A DOLLAR DOWN WILL DO!
Scott & Waller
FURNITURE COMPANY
Procter at Dallas

PEOPLES THEATRE

Revelery
Drama
Luxury
and Love

Now Playing
Thru
Saturday

PEARCE
Wed., Thurs., Fri., Nov. 7-9

GUY BATES POST
OMAR THE TENTMAKER

STRAND
Starting Today, Thru Saturday
STRAND CO.—Presents

"CIVILIAN CLOTHES"

A 4-act comedy drama of The Boys and Girls
"Over There."

On The Screen

"MODERN MARRIAGE"

